

Penguins Class focused on verbal bullying and enjoyed creating a 'pledgehog' with statements of how they would strive to make a difference when it comes to talking to peers in school.

The deep thought and mature discussions in Penguins class this week has shown how empathetic and wonderful our children can be. We promised to continue to behave in this way by taking a pledge:
I promise that whenever I meet someone who is different than me, I will try my best to see the good in them.

To encourage children to work together collaboratively, Dolphins class undertook a series of complex tasks which required team work and logical thinking to decipher the code which unlocked the safe!

Caterpillars have worked extremely hard this work and has listened well to how bullying can affect you. Caterpillars then enjoyed colouring in a puzzle piece to show how united there are as a class!
